This-N-That

As I'm sure this would apply to most Veterans across the country, the VA truly angers me in many ways.

Suicide rates are climbing, yet the VA says they're declining.

The VA says Veteran Homelessness is declining, but the facts say just the opposite, they are indeed climbing again.

The VA used to publish what they called the Monday Morning Worksheet where it showed the number of claims, appeals, etc., but then before they stopped publishing the report, they altered it to reflect an entirely different story, mostly, in my personal opinion to cover their asses!

Agent Orange claims over the past 50 plus years has risen as well as we're still finding out more about what these rainbow chemicals actually do to your body, and some take years and years before they surface, yet the mountain of evidence continues to rise as well.

Wait times and proper, accepted standards of medical care are on the decline again as well. And we continue to sit back, relax, and let it all happen.

Under Links to Other Stories, you will see a link to an article which is rather detailed.

Then we still have the "offset" between retirement and DIC benefits for widows where the government is stealing approximately $1,200.00 per months from Widows, which is $14,400.00 annually.

This "offset" also known as "double dipping" seems to be a favorite issue of members of Congress especially come election time.

Someone will always present a new piece of legislation to resolve this problem, but once elected, it's forgotten and this has been going on for at least the past twelve years and it seems they put that piece of legislation up to get re-elected, and never once bother to stop and think just how badly this affects our widows!

Over the years, I've received a number of letters from widows asking me to help them, and there isn't anything I can do but the normal routine, to ask people to get involved, calling their reps in DC frequently in order to get the bill to the floor, voted on and passed.

Many of these widows for financial reasons all brought on by the very Government that send their spouses off to war and were KIA, or came home only to die a slow death due to contamination have ended up selling their home or losing it due to inability to pay their mortgage.

Imagine you and your spouse living in a house that you worked your tail off for, scrimped and saved to make the down payment, then you pass on, and within a period of time your widow has to sell a home you've lived in for 10, 20, 30 years just to save money and be able to live on what you're being given.

Then we have the problem which has been ongoing for decades where the VA promotes people "within" the current ranks to Director, and those very same people were taught how to scam the system and end up making thousands of dollars all on the backs of those whom have served!

Is this right, absolutely not, but when people just refuse to speak out, what can be expected?

The West Los Angeles VA Medical Center is a prime example. And that fight to make it right has been going on for years. Veterans protested every Sunday, week after week, rain or shine, some were threatened, some arrested.

VA Land was leased out to the Brentwood elitists who owned various businesses catering to civilians, private schools, hotel services, a dog park, and more which brought on a lawsuit which was won, yet there are still civilian businesses on land that was donated with strict provisions it be used for a Veteran Nursing Home back in the 1800's.

We again seem to have a VA Secretary who doesn't seem to accomplish anything of substance, and where are we? Sitting back, watching a ball game, chugging down a beer, or just doing what ever, but still remaining silent.

SILENCE=ACCEPTANCE!

I know I've said this a million times over, but, without your help, how can anyone expect real change in the VA Healthcare System? How many lives does it cost before we take serious action?

I know I've personally posted many articles on how another Veteran lost his life due to the VA, so it's really no secret it's happening!

So, again I am asking each and everyone to get involved, call your Reps in DC every week, we prefer Fridays as everyone wants to go home either early or on time to have their weekend fun, lets slow them down, and show how serious we are.

And you don't have to be a Veteran, spouse of a Veteran, or children of a Veteran, civilians are more than welcome, even urged to help by calling, E-Mailing, what ever it takes.

Just keep it civil, no foul language, no screaming, just plain and simple requests.

The idea is, provided we can get the thousands upon thousands of people doing the same thing at the same time (and I recommend every Friday) is that it will slow down operations in their office, and in many cases prevent your Rep from doing the one and only thing they're good at, "LINING THEIR POCKETS" and will force them to take immediate, swift action to provide what we're demanding and get it to the floor for a vote and passage, just so they can get back to "lining their pockets!"

We announced three weeks ago that we've officially closed all our Face Book Pages and are now officially on MEWE.COM for everything. So if you're interested in following us on any of the various pages, all the links further down in the newsletter will take you there.

On behalf of our Volunteers nationwide and myself, we wish you and your family good health!

Respectfully,

Jim Davis

VA Evicts Groups that Help Vets;
Dog Park, Baseball Stadium, Prep
School Athletic Fields, Upscale Store
Parking Stay

The Los Angeles Veterans Affairs (VA) facility that illegally rents its sprawling grounds to institutions that don't serve veterans just evicted several groups dedicated to veterans, including a nonprofit that for decades has comforted dying vets and another that helps those who are disabled.

While the VA gave the volunteer organizations the boot without offering an explanation, it continues housing a parking lot for nearby upscale shops, a university baseball stadium, a dog park for the professional dog walkers of affluent residents, and athletic fields for a fancy prep school.

It marks the latest of several scandals involving the misuse of this VA property, where a top official pleaded guilty to multiple felonies last year for taking bribes from a parking lot operator that defrauded the agency out of millions. This month at least five established nonprofits dedicated to providing veterans with therapeutic activities, counseling and other valuable survival skills have been evicted while private businesses that don't benefit vets remain.

The Jewish War Veterans is among the organizations that just got kicked out along with Twilight Brigade, the Disabled American Veterans, Vet-to-Vet and the Association for Parrot C.A.R.E., which provides therapeutic activities for vets at its parrot sanctuary. A local newspaper reported the latest travesty at the southern California VA this week, but Judicial Watch has for years investigated, sued and obtained government documents involving the VA's illegal use of this parcel.

The 338-acre property in West Los Angeles, which includes the National Veterans Park and Veterans Home, was deeded to the federal government in 1888 for the specific purpose of caring for disabled veterans. Thousands of disabled veterans once lived on the grounds, which also had churches, theaters, a library and post office. In the 1960s and 1970s the VA quietly closed the facilities, according to the American Legion, and ousted mentally disabled veterans.

In recent years, the property has been used for many causes unrelated to veterans. Among them is a stadium for the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) baseball team, an athletic complex for a nearby private high school, laundry facilities for a local hotel, storage and maintenance of production sets for 20th Century Fox Television, the Brentwood Theatre, soccer practice and match fields for a private girls' soccer club, a dog park, and a farmer's market.

For nearly a decade a group called the Old Veterans Guard has filed complaints against rampant corruption at the Los Angeles campus, specifically for abusing and misappropriating VA property. The group assembled weekly and on Memorial Day to protest the VA's failure to make full use of the facility to benefit veterans, particularly those who are homeless. The government retaliated by sending VA police to harass and intimidate them at weekly rallies.

One of the group's leaders, an elderly Army vet named Robert Rosebrock, got criminally charged for posting a pair of four-by-six-inch American Flags on the outside fence of the Los Angeles VA on Memorial Day in 2016. The fence is part of the “Great Lawn Gate” and marks the entrance to the Los Angeles National Veterans Park. Judicial Watch represented Rosebrock in the federal case, which was tried in U.S. District Court for the Central District of California. The court eventually ruled that Rosebrock was not guilty of violating federal law for displaying the flags above the VA fence.

Judicial Watch sued the VA Police and other agency officials for violating Rosebrock’s and his fellow protestors’ Constitutional rights. Judicial Watch has also sued the VA twice for documents related to the non-veteran use of the Los Angeles facility and obtained records that show the VA paid private businesses hundreds of thousands of dollars to reimburse them for terminating unlawful lease agreements.

A 2011 lawsuit accusing the VA of misusing the Los Angeles grounds and illegally leasing the land forced the agency to make changes. As part of a settlement, the VA announced that it would dedicate the West L.A. campus to “serving veterans in need” by, among other things, designing a plan to help end homelessness among the county’s veterans. The legal settlement also compelled the VA to terminate leases with private businesses that were never supposed to be there in the first place.

The records obtained by Judicial Watch reveal that the VA paid Twentieth Century Fox Television $435,000 and a construction company building an illegal amphitheater on the north side of the grounds $287,318. The television studio used 72,160 square feet of VA land for parking, storage and maintenance of production sets.

Just a few months ago a federal audit exposed rampant fraud and corruption involving the illicit land sharing agreements made by crooked VA officials in Los Angeles. Judicial Watch launched an investigation into the deals and has three Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests pending.

H.R. 303, the Retired Pay Restoration Act

On January 8, 2019, Representative Gus Bilirakis (FL) introduced H.R. 303, the Retired Pay Restoration Act.

This bill would extend concurrent receipt authority to longevity retirees with service-connected disabilities rated less than 50 percent disabling. Under current law disabled veterans with longevity retirement from active military service who are also in receipt of a Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) disability determination of 50 percent or higher may retain both military retirement pay and their compensation.

DAV strongly supports H.R. 303 as it would end the unfair policy of forcing many military longevity retirees to forfeit some of their retired pay in order to receive equal amounts of disability compensation from the VA. This legislation is in accord with DAV Resolution No. 104 and would eliminate concurrent receipt for all longevity retirees.

Please use the prepared electronic letter or draft your own to urge your Representative to support and cosponsor H.R. 303. As always, we appreciate your support for DAV and your grassroots activism in participating in DAV CAN. Thank you for all you do for America's veterans and their families.

New High-Tech GI Bill Program
Coming Soon

A new pilot program from the Department of Veterans Affairs aims to help student veterans enroll in non-traditional programs that teach high-tech skills. Dubbed the Veteran Employment Through Technology Education Courses (VET TEC) program, it was announced Feb. 13. The program, set to start in April, focuses on high-tech skills that are in demand in today's workplace, the VA says. VET TEC will pay you a housing allowance and take care of tuition costs just like the Post-9/11 GI Bill. Classes must be in one of five areas: information science; computer programming; data processing; media applications; or computer software. Information on how to apply has not yet been released. VA Touts Health Record Access for iPhone Users

Veterans using VA health care will soon be able to easily access their medical data using their iPhone's built-in Health Records app, Department of Veterans Affairs officials said in a press release. Veterans' health care data will be integrated into the free app by this summer. Veterans will be able to see an aggregated view of all their VA health care data, including lab test results, medications, vital signs, medical procedures and more in the health app at anytime on their iPhone. Data from VA medical providers should be available on your mobile phone within 24 hours of receiving treatment. Read more about the upcoming feature in this article.

Appeals Act Effective 2/19/19

TREA is working hard to keep you updated on issues with the Departments of Defense (DOD) and Veterans Affairs (VA). TREA is sharing the information to assist you. Is the information helpful? Do you have an issue with DOD or VA and would like to see it addressed? Please provide feedback on the newsletter content or let us know if you would like to see an issue covered that has not been covered in an upcoming newsletter.

UPDATE: Since TREA January entry on the Appeals Modernization Act (AMA)

February 19, 2019 - Effective date new Veteran appeals law - AMA

On February 14, the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) announced it will discontinue the Rapid Appeals Modernization Program (RAMP), which provided eligible Veterans with early resolutions to their appealed claims, ahead of full implementation of the Veterans Appeals Improvement and Modernization Act of 2017 (AMA) that takes effect Feb. 19, 2019.

Under the AMA, thousands of veterans, some of them trapped indefinitely in a complex system of trying to obtain benefits from the Department of Veterans Affairs, will get new options next week promised to deliver decisions in days or months, instead of years. This is the biggest change to appeals in decades.

The VA is set to implement a new process Tuesday, February 19, for veterans to appeal their claims for VA disability compensation - a system devised by VA, veterans organizations including TREA and lawmakers and approved by Congress in 2017. Under the current system, veterans wait three to seven years to reconcile their appeals. The new one could get veterans through the process in as little as 125 days, VA officials vowed.

The new system involves multiple avenues for veterans, including an option to appeal their claims with a higher-level adjudicator or directly with the Board of Veterans' Appeals. Another option is to add information to their claim and appeal it with the same adjudicator who reviewed it. According to VA, officials will track the amount of time it takes veterans to get through each option. The agency will make that information public to help veterans decide which route to take.

Veterans Groups Say $103 Billion in VA Funding Needed for FY 2020

This week, the three coauthors of The Independent Budget (IB) — the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U.S., Disabled American Veterans, and Paralyzed Veterans of America — released the IB's fiscal year (FY) 2020 budget recommendations for VA. The IB coauthors recommend a total of $103.3 billion to ensure VA begins to fully and faithfully implement the VA MISSION Act of 2018, make needed improvements, and is able to timely deliver benefits and services to wounded, ill and injured veterans, their families and survivors.

H.R. 444, Reduce Unemployment for Veterans of All Ages Act of 2019

On January 10, 2019, Representative Julia Brown (CA) introduced H.R. 444, the Reduce Unemployment for Veterans of All Ages Act of 2019.

Currently, veterans with service-connected disabilities or other employment handicaps are able to receive career development services through VA's Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment program up to 12 years after they separate from military service. H.R. 444 would remove the limiting 12-year-period for eligibility.

In agreement with DAV Resolution No. 310, we support this legislation to eliminate the 12-year-period of eligibility. By removing the limited eligibility period, H.R. 444 will provide veterans the flexibility to receive the support they have earned and deserve throughout their lifetime and thus help reduce unemployment for service-connected veterans.

Please use the prepared electronic letter or draft your own to urge your Member of Congress to support and cosponsor H.R. 444.

Standing up for veterans is vital and we thank you for your advocacy. Your actions help make DAV a highly influential and effective organization in Washington. Thank you for all you do for America's veterans and their families.

VA to Implement High Tech Training Program

In anticipation of launching the Veteran Employment Through Technology Education Courses (VET TEC) program in April, VA is seeking training providers to help implement this new training course. Task Force Backs Merger of Exchange, Commissary Systems

The Defense Commissary Agency and the military's three separate exchange services should be consolidated under a single resale enterprise for the purpose of streamlining above-store and back-of-store operations, according to a report the Defense Department is expected to endorse and send to Congress next month. Commissaries and exchanges would remain separate stores on base, officials said. Consolidation would focus on a new central governance structure and squeezing efficiencies and achieving synergies by merging back office and "above-store" functions that customers don't see. Doing so could save an estimated $700 million to $1.3 billion over the first five years, less about $500 million in implementation costs, but then realize $400 million to $700 million a year in recurring savings after full transformation, officials said. VA to Receive Three New Fisher Houses

VA announced yesterday that it is scheduled to receive three new buildings from the Fisher House Foundation. The new facilities will be located in Ann Arbor, Mich., Aurora, Colo., and Omaha, Neb. The Fisher House Foundation donates housing facilities to VA and the military to act as a “home away from home” for active duty military, veterans, and their families when receiving treatment at a VA medical facility or major military installation. These facilities are located within walking distance from treatment facilities and provide cost-free housing. Currently, there are 80 Fisher Houses around the world — 38 are located next to VA facilities. An expansion from 38 to 64 is planned over the next few years.

New App Helps Soldiers Access Personnel Records

A new mobile app for the Integrated Personnel and Pay System-Army (IPPS-A) will let soldiers access their own personnel records on a smartphone or tablet. U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command, or TRADOC, created a mobile team to screen and approve the new IPPS-A Mobile App on Jan. 18, 2019, according to a release. This month, the app was made available to National Guard soldiers in Pennsylvania; Virginia; and Washington, D.C. It will be released to all other Army regions in phases. Until now, soldiers had to use a Common Access Card, or CAC, to access their Army personnel record. This app allows soldiers to access their records "on the move." They can also submit help inquiries, ask for record updates, and monitor the status of personnel actions on the app. The app's creators are still collecting feedback to improve it as the rollout continues. TREA Supporting Several Legislative Proposals

H.R. 333, The Disabled Veterans Tax Termination Act. TREA is pleased to continue to support and work with Rep. Sanford Bishop (GA) on legislation to eliminate the offset and permit Concurrent Receipt of retired military benefits and VA disability benefits. If enacted, TREA members would be permitted to receive both benefit payments.

H.R. 553, Ending the SBP-DIC Offset TREA continues to support efforts to allow military retiree survivors to receive full Survivor Benefit Plan benefits. Legislation introduced by Reps. Joe Wilson (R-S.C.) and John Yarmuth (D-Ky.) would end the deduction of Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP) annuities from Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) paid to survivors of fallen service members, also known as the "widows tax."

The Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP) was enacted into law in 1972. It includes a dollar-for-dollar offset of Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) from SBP, called the SBP/DIC offset, for surviving spouses of retired service members who voluntarily participated in the insurance annuity program, paid premiums, and then died of a service-connected issue. Post-9/11 active duty surviving spouses also are impacted. The offset affects over 63,000 military surviving spouses.

Contact your Congressman and Senators and urge them to support both proposals.

Military Family Housing Horrors

Testimony from three military spouses Wednesday before a joint hearing of the Senate Armed Services Subcommittee on Personnel, and Subcommittee on Readiness and Management Support revealed military family housing horrors ranging from insects and rodents, to asbestos and lead-based paint.

Testimony was also given by five company CEOs and/or presidents, who collectively manage some 200,000 family housing units throughout the military; and four assistant DOD, Army, Navy, and Air Force secretaries, who are responsible for installation oversight. To the VFW, the dismissive attitude of housing contractors and installation commanders, who may have thought their days of listening to housing complaints were over when the military signed 50-year contracts with civilian management companies in the mid-1990s, was egregious. It was clear from testimony and ensuing Q&A sessions that all military installation commands must take an active role in contract fulfillment, oversight and customer satisfaction, and families need an effective forum to communicate their issues with housing authorities and installation commanders without fear of retribution. The VFW will continue to monitor this issue to ensure the military and their contractors make good on their pledges to perform and communicate better. Read testimony or watch the hearing, which begins at the 18:30 mark.

Wreck of WWII Aircraft Carrier
Hornet Discovered

The wreck of the World War II aircraft carrier USS Hornet (CV-8) has been discovered off the Solomon Islands by a research organization set up by the late billionaire Paul Allen. The carrier was located in late January by the crew of the Research Vessel Petrel, resting on the floor of the South Pacific, according to a statement released Tuesday by Allen's Vulcan organization. Vulcan oversees Allen's network of organizations and initiatives, which includes R/V Petrel's research. Researchers used information from national and naval archives to find the ship, as well as action reports from other vessels involved in the fateful Battle of the Santa Cruz Islands in 1942. The wreck was found at a depth of nearly 17,500 feet. Read more about the discovery in this article.
