Re: Wesley T. Carter

I certify that I have trained and flew numerous missions as an inflight Medical Technician and Flight Instructor with then Staff Sergeant (later promoted to Technical Sergeant) Wesley T. Carter during the period of 1974 through May of 1980 while we were assigned to the 74th Aeromedical Squadron at Westover Air Reserve Base, Massachusetts. Many of those missions were aboard C-123K model aircraft that were assigned to the 731st Airlift Squadron and had previously been used in Vietnam to spray chemical toxins such as Agent Purple and Agent Orange.

One of those aircraft was C-123K Tail Number 362 which is known as "Patches." That particular aircraft is currently on display in the Air Force Museum at Wright Patterson Air Force Base. It has been sealed and no one is allowed inside due to residual contamination.

I am enclosing a copy of flight orders (MAC Form 41) dated 5 March through 7 March 1976 as an example which shows both SSGT Carter and myself on one particular three day mission. Also enclosed is a copy of my individual flight record for the month of March 1976 clearly showing that the aircraft used during that mission was C-123K tail number 362.
